DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed 10/21/02 has been considered and placed in the application file.

Drawings

2. The Examiner has accepted the formal drawings filed on 11 April 2001.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-17 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hasegawa et al(as applied to claims 1-17) or Helland et al(as applied to claims 1-6 and 9-16) as per reasons stated in the previous Office Action per paper no. 2, 09/11/02, paragraph no. 7. Further, the graphite fluoride component of Hasegawa et al(col. 3, lines 29-57) and the fluorinated carbon component of Helland et al(Abstract and col. 4, lines 23+) clearly overlaps in scope with the claimed fluorinated carbon component. Further, Hasegawa et al teach phenolic resins in combination with polyacrylic acid resins & vinylbutyral polymers(col. 4, lines 11-25). As to the phenolic resins of Hasegawa et al, such are generic to and necessarily include any phenolic resin including the phenolic acrylic resin per claim 8. In any event, the use of any commercial available phenolic resin in lieu of the disclosed phenolic resin of Hasegawa et al would have been obvious to the skilled artisan and with a reasonable expectation of success. The carbon black component per each of Hasegawa et al and Helland et al is sufficient to meet the claimed secondary filler per claim 10. As to the crosslinking limitation per claim 9, it would be expected that the heated compositions of each of Hasegawa et al and Helland et al would meet this parameter. As to the volume resistivity per each of claims 14 and 15, it would be expected that the compositions of each of Hasegawa et al and Helland et al would necessarily possess this property since the compositions of each of Hasegawa et al and Helland et al are essentially the same as the claimed composition(In re Best et al, 195 USPQ 430). There is absolutely nothing on this record establishing that this, in fact, is not the case.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 12/11/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Relative to Hasegawa et al and Helland et al—On the one hand, counsel argues that a developing composition as taught by Hasegawa et al and Helland et al does not have adhesive properties and on the other hand, counsel points out that the developing composition adheres to paper. This, in effect, substantiates the Examiner's position that the compositions of each of Hasegawa et al and Helland et al would be expected to and do possess adhesive properties. Further, while Counsel argues that the prior art houses components in excess of those as claimed, Counsel is cordially reminded that the claimed term "comprising" leaves the claim open for the inclusion of unspecified ingredients, even in major amounts(Ex parte Davis et al, 80 USPQ 448 (PTO BD. App. 1948)).

Response to Amendment

Art Unit: 1713

7. After further consideration coupled with the amendments to the claims + Counsel's persuasive arguments, the rejections based on Caul et al, Ozawa et al, Eadara et al, Shaw-Klein et al, Mammino et al, Ninomiya et al and Lombardi et al are herein withdrawn.

Conclusion

8. The prior art to Hiratsuka et al(U.S. 3,717,576) is cited as of interest in teaching a graphite fluoride/phenolic resin/extender-containing composition similar to the claimed composition and is considered merely cumulative to the prior art supra.

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
